HOW YOUNG SALVINI DIED

DID NOT KNOW HE WAS AP-PROACHING THE END.

Harsh Criticism of His Acting in London Started His Illness.
Pined for America as Though It
Were His Native Land.

[BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—[Special Dispatch.] Mrs. Alexander Salvini arrived today on the steamer St. Paul. Mr. and Mrs. Salvini left this country June 8 last, and the world has since known of his death. December 15, Mrs. Salvini, who was Maud Dixon, was not recovered from the shock of her husband's death, which was entirely unexpected, so far as she was concerned.

"We arrived in London and my husband complained he was tired," she said, "he had just given an elaborate production of 'Othello' in Chicago and had been under a great strain. The critics in that city were unkind in their treatment of his Othello and I think that had something to do in bringing on his illness."
"From London we went to Paris and he continued to get worse. We consulted physicians and found he was suffering from swelling of the intestines. We went to Florence and staid there at his father's villa and he con-

A RAINY DAY AT CANTON.

McKinley Staid In Out of the Wet
and No Visitors Were Received.
Col. Hay Favorably Mentioned
for the Court of St. James.

[BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.]

CANTON (O.), Feb. 22.—[Special Dispatch.] Ohio Republicans here and throughout the State are rejoicing over the decision of Gov. Bushnell to appoint Mr. Hanna to the Senate of the United States to succeed John Sherman, when he goes into the Cabinet. Many telegrams containing pleasant comment on Gov. Bushnell's statement have been received here today, and both Mr.
Hanna and the Governor are being deluged with congratulatory telegrams.
"Gov. Bushnell has served notice to the country," said a Republican of great prominence here this evening,
"that the Ohio Republicans mean to stand by their President as a unit, and that they mean henceforth to have two,
instead of one, representative in the Senate of the United States. The action of Gov. Bushnell means that the Republicans are harmonious and full of zeal and will elect a majority of the members of the general Assembly next fall and send Mark Hanna to the Senate for six years."

Gov. Bushnell and Senator-elect Foraker, whose advice counts for much with him, saw an opportunity to make a great stroke for party harmony, and they both proved equal to the occasion.
The Republicans of Ohio owe them a good deal. Looking at the matter from a selfish, factional point of view, neither of them had much to gain. The appointment meets with almost universal satisfaction. No protest has been heard against it. It is safe to say 95 per cent. of the people of Ohio were in favor of it. Maj. McKinley will now have Mr. Hanna at Washington where he will be free to give him and his administrators the benefit of his business and political experience. Mr. Hanna is a strong character, a man of great native force, of wide acquaintance,
wonderful training and uncommon executive ability. He is sure to make himself felt in Congress, and the new administration is particularly fortunate in having the earnest, active, loyal support of two such men as Foraker and Hanna.

Maj. McKinley is a great peacemaker, and his wisdom and foresight has given to the Ohio Republicans an opportunity to establish harmonious relations that ought to endure for many years.

A DULL, WET DAY.

This has been a dull, wet, gray day
in Canton. Rain fell steadily for several hours, and no ray of sunshine pierced the heavy clouds. The President-elect remained indoors, and seemed in nowise improved as to his health. The family physician continues to prescribe rest and quiet, consequently the visitors who came to Canton expecting to see Maj. McKinley were disappointed.

Tomorrow M. A. Hanna expects to come to Canton for a farewell conference before his departure on Thursday for Washington, and Col. J. J.
McCook of New York may reach Canton about the same time. It can be stated positively that if Mr. McCook is a member of the Cabinet he will not be Attorney-General. It has not been the purpose of the President-elect at any time since Col. McCook's name has been under consideration, to assign him to the Department of Justice, in case he decided to make him
a member of the official family. The Attorney-General was selected long before Mr. McCook was thought of in connection with the Cabinet.

COL. HAY'S AMBASSADORSHIP.
There has been no small degree of discussion in Canton today of the rumor that Col. John Hay of Cleveland is likely to be appointed Ambassador to Great Britain. The report was never verified nor denied. There were several politicians here who know
Col. Hay, and they had a good deal to say about his admirable equipment in the way of special training

and ability for a post of the importance of the one with which his name is connected. The President-elect is a warm personal friend of Col. Hay, and knows how thoroughly well fitted he is for a high position in the diplomatic service. The impression prevails that Col. Hay is under very serious consideration for appointment as Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

DISAPPOINTED VISITORS.
Dr. J. A. Endander of Chicago, the editor of a Welsh Journal, came to Canton today to file a well-indorsed application for the appointment of Consul to Cairo, Egypt. He was unable to see the President-elect.

M. H. de Young of San Francisco stopped off on his way to the West to pay his respects to Maj. McKinley, but did not see him.

Wilbur F. Wakeman, secretary of the Tariff League, was a visitor to Canton
today.

HAYARD'S SUCCESSOR.
Appointment of Col. Hay Pleases
the Britishers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
LONDON, Feb. 22.—The afternoon
papers comment favorably upon the announcement made by the American correspondent of the London Times that Col. John Hay has been selected by President-elect McKinley to be successor to Hayard as Ambassador of the United States.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The selection is in every way admirable.
Great Britain has always been naturally in the American Ambassador and in Mr. Hayard's successor she is particularly so."

The United States has again chosen
the best stamp of man that can be found to represent the United States.
A good feature of Col. Hay is that he has had considerable diplomatic experience. Perhaps this will tend to reduce the risk of such surprises as have occurred in the past few years."

The Globe opinion is that Col. Hay
"will not be capable of the mistakes which American ministers have sometimes made from lack of experience. He will be a man of sense and a machine politician selection, and may be regarded as proof that Mr. McKin-ley's administration will be a success."

SPILLS FOR THE VICTORS.

McKinley May Revoke Cleveland's
Civil Service Order.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The News
Washington special says: "It will be good news to the office-seekers that President-elect McKinley is likely to revoke or modify the sweeping civil service order of President Cleveland whereby nearly all the offices in the Government were thrown open to competition. It is believed that all of the offices in the civil service will be taken into the civil service act."

Gen. Grosvenor, who is one of Mc-Kinley's closest friends, has given information to the News that he has been one of his most capable political supporters, said: "I believe President McKinley will revoke or suspend the order which took all of the offices in the civil service classification. I have been investigating the matter, and I believe that in this country has given me an opinion covering the case.
He says that an executive can revoke his own order, and that an executive body can reconsider an act."

SEEING NO ONE.

McKinley Closely Housed—De Young
Not Admitted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
CANTON, Feb. 22.—The President-elect did not receive his most intimate friends this afternoon. Dr. H. T. Phillips, the family physician, has given instructions that only members of the family and his secretary gain access to his private office. There is no appointment to the health of Maj. Mc-Kinley, but the physicians say he must have absolute freedom from care and worry, and will have a very cordial welcome for the national chairman
should the latter's expected visit be fulfilled.

Among the later arrivals this afternoon was M. H. de Young of California, who stopped off on his way to the West
to pay his respects to the President-elect. He said his call was of no political significance whatever.

Col. John Hay, who has been frequently mentioned as the coming Attorney-General in the McKinley Cabinet, is expected here tomorrow for a conference with the President-elect.

Gov. Thomas of Utah was a visitor
late this evening.

HANNA'S LOFTY PURPOSE.

He Will Uphold the Hands of the McKinley Administration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
CLEVELAND, Feb. 22.—M. A. Hanna said this afternoon, regarding the announcement that Gov. Bushnell had decided to appoint him United States Senator:

"I received a letter from Gov. Bushnell this morning informing me of his intention to appoint me. I have written a reply to Gov. Bushnell, thanking him for the honor he bestowed upon me, and expressing my appreciation of his intention in advance of the resignation of Senator Sherman. It gives me a chance to prepare my plans for my new place there. Gov. Bushnell doubtless felt that the sentiment of Ohio toward me was such that he would better make the appointment. I shall do all in my power to do the party honor. So far as my policy goes, it will be to aid
the McKinley administration, and in particular assist in framing a tariff bill which will seek to restore confidence to the country and give a stimulus to our interests. That is now the chief purpose of my life."

BUSHNELL'S FUTURE.
He Throws Away Political Ambition
for the Time Being.

[BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.]
SPRINGFIELD (O.), Feb. 22.—The Daily Gazette of this city says Gov. Bushnell's personal organ, which on Saturday evening came out with a triple-number, has been published today. The editorial in the Gazette comes out this evening in another editorial on the matter, which shows that the Governor
for the time being has thrown away political ambition so far as the United States Senate is concerned. The editorial closes as follows:

"Gov. Bushnell will not stand for re-election this year, and will not be a candidate for United States Senator for the full term next year."

AFTER SCALPS

Assessor Dalton on the War Path.State Board of Equalizers to Be Abolished.A Claim That County Assessors
Can Do the Work.

The Railroads Said to Have Their Collar on the Present Equal-izers—The People to Vote on the Proposition—Sacramento Gossip.

[BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.]
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 22.—[Special Dispatch.] Assemblyman Melick of Lancaster is not the only man in California who is hunting the scalps of State boards and commissions. Henry
P. Dalton, Assessor of Alameda county, has his little knife out and has taken the warpath against the State Board of Equalization. Some days ago he addressed a circular letter to the assessors
of all the counties in the State, urging them to write to their representatives in the Legislature and ask the latter to support Assemblyman Clark's amendment to section 22, article xiii of the State Constitution, abolishing the State Board of Equalization. It seems, the people are beginning to act on the suggestion, for some of the members are receiving letters on the subject, and at least one of Dalton's circulars has found its way to Sacramento, whence its contents became known to Equalizer Morehouse and others who were supposed to be in ignorance of the movement against them in this direction.

In his letter to county assessors, Dalton incloses printed copies of the constitutional amendment, apparently taken from the Assembly files, and the question is how he got so large a number. It is well known here that certain attaches and hangers-on have been systematically supplying San Francisco
lawyers and other interested persons with copies of bills for a consideration, sometimes exhausting the supply of important bills in so doing, and Dalton might assist to trace these outposts, if he would.

In his circular he advocates the substitution, in place of the present Board of Equalization, a State board composed of county assessors acting ex-officio. The present system of equalizing State taxes, is, to put it mildly, said to be a failure. He declares that assessors well know that the State board is not as able to properly equalize taxes as are the county assessors, who are under no obligations to any one but the people of their own counties, and who, therefore, see to it that the counties they represent are not discriminated against. The District Board of Equalizers, he says, is under so many obligations to the State, that they lose sight of the fact that their business
is to equalize taxes and not intimidate county assessors.

"You know," he continued, "that the railroads have controlled the district
board from its very first organization.
The result is that railroad taxes have been lowered at the expense of other taxpayers, while the quantity and value of railroad property has steadily increased. Assessments of railroad property are more than $5,000,000 less than ten years ago. The people of your county have been compelled to pay more than their share of taxes. A State Board of Equalization, composed of county assessors, could not be so easily controlled by the railroads, as a board of five men, four of whom are named by district conventions."

While there are some good ideas contained in Dalton's letter, his refreshing frankness is the most conspicuous feature.

Equalizer Morehouse characterizes
the proposition as absurd. County assessor have too much to do now in many instances, he says, to undertake the work of equalizing, and the system would be too cumbersome and costly. Of course, Morehouse ought to be able to give an unbiased opinion
on this matter, despite his connection with the State Board of Equalization,
for some of the knowing ones here
say that the imprint of the railroad hand on his back is too plain, and that he realizes that his sixteen years of service in equalizing taxes is coming to an end. However, the people themselves have the final choice of systems, for Clark's amendment must be submitted to a popular vote before it can become a law.

The Senate Judiciary Committee did
a lot of work today, despite the fact that it is a national holiday. More than a dozen bills will be reported back without recommendation,
while a number of Assembly bills were acted on favorably.

CRUSHED ROCK.

A Price for the Output of Folsom
Agreed Upon.

[BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.]
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 22.—[Special Dispatch.] Tracy's bill regulating the sale of the product of the Folsom rock crusher, which has been a cause belli
on two occasions in the House, will be up again for final passage this week.
The bill provides for the sale of the product at 20 cents, and Tracy wanted to make it a 40-cent rate. Sacramento influences have been at work, and the consequence is that a compromise rate of 30 cents has been suggested. It is believed this rate can pass the Senate,
and that the bill will be signed by the Governor.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

An Army Officer, Catholic Prelate
and Others Gained Life.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Capt. William Howard Merrill, U.S.A., retired, died of cirrhosis of the liver after an illness of a month at his home in this city. He was born in 1835, and was March 21, 1863, and after a preparatory education in the local schools,
entered West Point Military Academy.
He left there before graduating and returned to the United States, where he broke of the war he offered his services to President Lincoln and enlisted with Co. E of the Twenty-seventh New York
Infantry, on May 21, 1861.

At the battle of Bull Run, he led a gallant charge against the enemy and received a wound in the shoulder. For his services at Bull Run he was made captain of volunteers.
March 11, 1862. At the battle of Antietam
he was captured and sent to Libby Prison, from which place, after four months of confinement in that den of horrors, he escaped.

While in the prison he wrote a book recting the terrors of the life led by the unfortunate confined there. Upon reaching the United States again he rejoined his command, and served throughout the war. He was mustered out of service October 1, 1864, and immediately received his appointment
as brevet in the regular army, which was bestowed for his courage at the battle of Bull Run.

On September 10, 1868, he was made a full captain, and sent to Governor's Island. He retired from active service December 31, 1870. Capt. Merrill was a friend of President Lincoln, and for several months was attached to his staff in the capacity of aide-de-camp.

ARCHBISHOP GRACE.
ST. PAUL (Minn.), Feb. 22.—Most Rev. Thomas L. Grace, formerly bishop of St. Paul, died this morning. He fell
a victim to bronchitis some weeks ago,
and sank gradually and painlessly till he passed away. Thomas Grace was born at Charleston, S. C., in 1814. He entered the Dominican order, and went to Rome, where he embraced a theological course. Shortly after ordination
he was placed in charge of a parish at Memphis. In 1859 he was called to the diocese of St. Paul. He was consecrated by Bishop Ingraham that year, succeeding Joseph Creten, first bishop. In July, 1884, finding his burden too heavy, he resigned the bishopric of St. Paul into the hands of John Irland, the present archbishop.

Texas anti-trust law unconstitutional.
It was under this law that Rockefeller,

Company was arrested and convicted.
He appealed to the court here for a

The Bond-aided Part to Be Tendered to Uncle Sam in Satisfaction of His Lien—Segregating the Appearances.

[BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—[Special Dispatch.] Railroad men in San Francisco and Sacramento are discussing with deep interest the plans which the Southern Pacific Company has undertaken for satisfying the obligation due the United States government from the Central Pacific Company.

Since the recent defeat of the Funding Bill in Congress, it is said to have been accepted by the Central Pacific bond-aided portion of the Central Pacific will go into the hands of a receiver as soon as the company defaults in meeting the principal and accrued interest of government subsidy bonds as they mature.

From present indications the Central Pacific will be in default on the first of January next, when a batch of $10,000,000 bonds will fall due, and unless some other means of adjusting the government debt is arranged meantime a receivership will follow quickly. The officials who manage the affairs of the big railroad corporation are preparing for a receivership. According to a story that is now the subject of much comment and speculation in railroad circles, they have begun to adjust the affairs of the Central Pacific preparatory to making a tender of the bond-aided portion of the road to the government.

James I. Felter, a prominent resident of Sacramento and a life-long personal friend of Huntington, has been employed to segregate the Central Pacific's personal and portable property from that of the Southern Pacific, and those who are in a position to know the way matters are going, say that this is the first step toward a tender of the road and its appurtenances to Huntington to the government.

Felter has been actively engaged in this work for two weeks, and the shops at Sacramento, which are at present receiving his attention, are just now the scene of remarkable activity. One of the larger buildings is known as the storehouse, and it contains a stock of hardware larger than is carried by any store on the Coast. Two thousand feet of shelving in this storehouse are loaded with stock for use in railroad engines. Every one of those articles is marked with cost price and labeled either "C. P." or "S. P." in accordance with whether or not it was bought for the Central Pacific or Southern Pacific. For years all orders for car hardware from Portland to San Diego and to Ogden on the east have been filled from this stock, which is worth now over $1,000,000. So great and continuous is the demand of the great railroad system for goods of the kind that a force of eight clerks are kept busy the year round filling out shipping orders. In the years that the great stock has been accumulating the goods bought for the Southern Pacific have become intermingled with the goods bought for the Southern Pacific. The stocks are not separated, but are piled together without relation to the road for which they were bought. All this stock is to be carefully segregated and this, it is understood, will require several months. The reasons for segregating were not made known to Felter, his instructions simply being to separate "C. P." from "S. P." stock.

MAINTAINING NAVIGATION.Magnetic Bearings of Coast Lines to Be Determined.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—An important aid to navigation by the mariners along the Pacific Coast may readily determine the deviation of their compasses, is likely to be afforded by the United States Commerce, Ship-owners' Association and the Marine Underwriters. It is proposed that at suitable points along the coast from San Diego to Puget Sound, and especially about the shores of the principal harbors, two prominent points which can be brought conveniently within range from deep water will be taken, and the true magnetic bearing of the line between them determined and made known, so that a commander may easily compare the bearing of his compass needle therewith. This has been carefully done by governments, boards of trade and nautical bodies of Europe, but this valuable safeguard is here being seriously considered for the first time.

BAY CITY BURGLARS.A Portland Woman Bereft of Her Diamonds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Burglars entered the flat of Mrs. Lawrence at No. 929 Sutter street Saturday evening, and from a room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Portland, took money and valuable articles to the amount of $1,000, while the occupants of the house were at the theater. The burglars entered either through a window or by picking the lock of the front door. About $400 in coin and a letter of credit on Portland, a valise with diamonds and other jewelry, and wearing apparel were carried away.

ALMOST A HANGING BEE.An Officer Saves a Wife-Murderer from a Mob.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.), Feb. 22.—The people of Port Blakely, the big mill town, were routed to a great pitch of excitement today by a cruel murder. The murderer is Charles F. Miller, a sailor, and the victim was his wife, Caroline Miller. After killing the woman, Miller shot himself twice, but he will not die. When the men of the killing squad saw the mill men of Blakely were wild. Miller was in the hands of a constable. When the managers of the mill saw that there would be a hanging bee unless something was quickly done, they started the machinery and put the men to work. When the 5 o'clock whistle blew, however, and the workmen were released, they gathered again and determined to hang the murderer. The Constable saw the danger and made his way down to the wharf with his prisoner, closely followed by the mob, some of them with a rope ready. The officer got his man on board a steamer and carried across the bay to this city, where Miller is now in the County Jail.

Mrs. Miller's body was also brought here. The Millers had lived at Port Blakely for two years. The man had worked at odd jobs around the mill and his wife had also worked out among the families in the town. Miller had frequently beaten his wife. No one saw the deed, but there is no doubt of the man's guilt.

DROWNED IN A SLOUGH.

Mrs. Johnson Found Dead in Sacramento River Tule.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 22.—Mrs. John Johnson, who lived near Pleasant Grove, Sutter county, twenty-seven miles from here, was found dead in the Sacramento river today. She had left her home on Monday to visit her sister, Mrs. Frank D. Ryan, the wife of the District Attorney. On Tuesday she left in her buggy for home, but had not been expected back so soon. A day or two later her husband became anxious about her non-arrival, and telephoned to Ryan to find her whereabouts. Frank Ryan telephoned to Johnson, who had left her last Tuesday, and a search was at once instituted, resulting in the finding of the horse and buggy in a slough near home, and the body of the woman in the slough had become swollen by the recent rains, and in trying to ford it she was drowned.

STOLE HIS LAST HORSE.

A Kings County Crook Shot by an Officer at Fresno.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

FRESNO, Feb. 22.—Jim Denman, an all-around crook, was shot and instantly killed in this city tonight by Deputy Sheriff Parker Timmins. Denman was a member of a Kings county gang of horse-thieves and was arrested for horse-stealing on a warrant from that county just before he was killed.

While on his way to jail he broke away from the officers and ran. When he was shot, the ball from the officer's pistol entering at the base of his skull, he fell and never got up. His death was almost instantaneous. Denman was suspected of having committed a burglary yesterday and also thought to be an ex-convict. With the aid of accomplices he stole several feet of shelving in this storehouse a few weeks ago and drove them to the coast.

FROZEN STIFF.

Sad Fate of Locomotive Engineer Sherwood.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

WANTHA (B. C.), Feb. 22.—The body of Charles Sherwood was found yesterday morning frozen stiff near Craig's Camp, on the north fork of the Cottonwood River. Sherwood was a locomotive engineer and had been employed on the Central Washington and the Spokane and Northern. He has a brother and sister in Los Angeles, Cal.

Train-robber's Examination.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.), Feb. 22.—The preliminary examination of Jim Parker, charged with the Rock Cut train-robbery, which was set for today, has been postponed until tomorrow.

Today being a legal holiday, Kid Love and Abe Thompson, who were arrested in connection with the robbery, were brought to jail here from Flagstaff last night.

A Conductor's Feet Crushed.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 22.—Robert Drayton, conductor of the Galatia and Ione branch road, had both his feet crushed this afternoon at Galt. He attempted to jump from the pilot of the engine when he felt the wheels passing over his legs below his knees.

A Runaway Boy Captured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Earl Skinner, a fourteen-year-old boy, was taken into custody on the water front this afternoon, and will be sent to his home in Fresno tonight. He left home last Friday with the intention of becoming a tramp.

Mitchell's Withdrawal.

SALEM (Or.), February 22.—Senator Mitchell has written a letter stating his willingness to withdraw from the Senate in Fresno tonight. He left home last Friday with the intention of becoming a tramp.

A Proposal for Autonomy.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—It is stated that the powers have accepted a proposal to grant autonomy to Crete. Even if this be true, it would naturally be followed by the dispatch of an ultimatum to Greece. This probably accounts for the rumors regarding an ultimatum.

Silence Was Heard.

[Exchange.] In a well-known bank in Edinburgh the clerks are presided over by a mild-mannered manager, whose violent fits of temper very often dominate his reason. For instance, "I—er, beg your pardon, sir, I could get an office boy to make better figures than those, and I tell you I won't do it. It is a matter of fact, sir, that just looks like a three. What do you mean, sir, by making such beastly figures?" Explain!

"I—er, beg your pardon, sir, suggested the trembling clerk, his heart fluttering terribly, "but—er, well, you see, sir, it is a three."

"A three?" roared the manager; "why, it looks just like a five!"

The Missouri Pie Counter.

[Exchange.] The announcement that Col. Dick Kereks has rented a big house near Dupont circle in Washington by a rail, impetuous manager, means that Chauncey L. Wiley will have mighty little to do with the management of the Missouri pie counter under the McKinley administration.

THE JULIAN JAW KEPT BUSY.BOB'S BACKERS BOAST HOW HE WILL DO JIM.

It is Probable That "Ladies" Will Be Admitted to the Fight—Ground Broken for the Pavilion at Carson.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

CARSON (Nev.), Feb. 22.—Washington's birthday Carson was not observed by any formal ceremonies. Talk has been divided between the reported Indian uprising in the Pyramid Lake reservation and the prize fight. Corbett increased his work today while Fitzsimmons did very little.

After light work with the bag and a few rounds with Hickey, Fitzsimmons drove to Carson with Roebber, muffled his ears and went to bed to protect himself from the intense cold. He made a tour of the stores for the purpose of buying things needed at camp, followed by a curious crowd. After two hours' shopping he drove back to Cook's place for lunch after resting two hours he took another turn at sparring and bag-punching.

Carpenters are at work on the pavilion at Cook's preparing a place with a view of arranging a grand court for the Australian. Teams were put to work to clear a strip of ground for running. The roads in the vicinity of Fitzsimmons' quarters are rough and muddy, and it is expected that the coming of winter will bring a thawing and freezing of snow, a level piece of ground away from the road has been chosen for a track.

AT SHAW'S SPRINGS.

Shaw's Springs is still the popular place with the music of sleigh bells all day, as people drove out to see Corbett at work. He has numerous spectators whenever he works out, whether it be early morning or late in the afternoon. All who come are admitted to the big handball court, and stand about shivering and stamping their feet. The time comes for Corbett's appearance.

Jim did more work today than on any previous day. In the morning he had a long spell at handball with Joe Corbett, who, by the way, gives his brother considerable help. Then he called for Woods. Woods pressed a comical appearance, with the padded mask over his eyes, and with a chest protector as thick as that of a baseball catcher. Jim went at him, swung his left on the jaw and repeatedly jabbed his face, bringing blood from the nose, the only part of Wood's face unprotected. When the referee called time, Jim was shouting "time" and leaning against the wall, while Corbett did the "Corbett walk" about the floor until his partner was ready to receive him.

After Woods came the punching bag. Jim kept at the bag for twenty minutes, which was followed by a long rest. Perspiration streamed down his cheeks, but his breathing was almost normal. Jim said McVey would be five minutes, and then he called for Brother Joe, Woods, McVey and Jeffries—when the latter arrives—he could get enough work.

The afternoon's work was a repetition of the morning. There is nothing new regarding the match for George Smith and Ed Smith to secure a match with the winner of the Tracy-Ryan fight at Sacramento. Negotiations are going on with two or three good men in the East to meet Green, but as yet there is nothing definite.

LADIES MAY BE ADMITTED.

Wheelock said to an Associated Press reporter today:

"I have received letters from all over the United States urging the management to admit ladies to the fight. We have not as yet passed on that question, but I presume Stuart will call a meeting of those interested in a few days to decide the matter. Personally I see no objection. The fight will be conducted under protection of the police, and no one will be admitted. I see no reason why women may not as well attend the fight as the theater or a football game."

Numerous orders for seats are arriving. No seats will be assigned until the plans of the arena are completed. The money received from the fight will be credited to the sender, and the applicant be given preference over all subsequent orders.

Ground was broken today at the race-track, and lumber is being dumped on the site. Carpenters will be put to work tomorrow, and the track will be increased daily as the work progresses. Tonight it is clear and cold, with prospects good for continued bright weather.

THE JULIAN JAW.

Martin Julian left for San Francisco on the western express last night. He will be back Wednesday. When asked the purpose of his trip he said that he was going to see a stock of prize fighters and make arrangements for the hire of the Mechanics' Pavilion for the 19th of March.

"On that date," he went on, "Robert Fitzsimmons, champion pugilist of the world, will appear before the public of San Francisco and give an exhibition, after having beaten the head of Mr. Corbett."

Ernest Roebber is about as confident as Julian, and Hickey is full of rosy dreams concerning the result of the event that is to take place on the 17th of March. The wrestler said yesterday: "My wrestling with Bob is hard, earnest work throughout. When he throws me it is on the level, not a gift. Four days ago at Denver, for the first time since we have been together, Fitzsimmons threw a ball and it nearly gave me an opening and to my surprise, despite all my efforts to prevent him, he threw me in a fair and square manner and kept me on the ground for three minutes. When you consider that I weigh 217 pounds and Fitzsimmons weighs 185, I think the fight will be all over inside of ten rounds. Fitzsimmons concedes that Corbett is clever and quick, but our man is by far the hardest hitter. He can afford to take two or three of Corbett's blows in order to land one of his own, and every time he gets one I want to tell you that it will take thirty pounds of Jim. My reason for this statement is based partly on what I saw in Bob's fight with Maher. I think all fair-minded persons will agree with me when I say that Maher is one of the hardest hitters in the ring today. Well, he smashed

Bob twice good and hard, but the blows did not bother him at all. "When Fitzsimmons landed on the Irishman they had evidently become worn, and one more blow put him to sleep. Corbett's game will probably be to spar off at long range, the same way he fought Sullivan, but as soon as he begins to fight in real earnest, Bob will keep him moving and it will only be a matter of time before he is put out. Many people profess to believe that Fitzsimmons won't be able to land on Jim. Why not? Mitchell landed on Corbett and made him blink for a while. If Mitchell could do that, how much better can our man do, with his advantage in reach over everything else? Take my word for it, as soon as Fitzsimmons lands it will be all over but the shouting."

TALK IS CHEAP.

Upon learning what Julian and Fitzsimmons had to say about the outcome of the battle, Corbett said: "Oh, well, I'm not making that kind of talk. If they like to hear themselves speak, why let them. It does not hurt anybody. I am surprised at Fitzsimmons running out in the snow. I don't think it was a matter of time before he would be out. I guess he knows best. About all this loud talk is from their side; you just wait till Brady gets here and then there will be some talk. He can out-talk the whole lot of them, and is not afraid to say what he thinks, either. I expect him here on Thursday. He left New York Sunday."

With regard to Sharkey's statement that he has in his possession letters from Corbett, if it is all right, would stamp him as a faker of the worst kind. Jim had very little to say beyond denying the truth of the report and saying that Sharkey was an out-talk the whole lot of them, and is not afraid to say what he thinks, either. I expect him here on Thursday. He left New York Sunday."

ZERO WEATHER.

CARSON (Nev.), Feb. 22.—The thermometer at daybreak this morning stood at 8 deg. below, the coldest weather here for several years. The sun came up bright and warm, however, and the mercury rose to 20 above at noon. The snow is melting, but it is expected that it will be good for continued bright weather.

Bob Fitzsimmons commenced work this morning with a four-round bout with Hickey and a half hour's work with Roebber in wrestling. He finished his morning's routine with bag-punching for ten minutes. After a rub-down Fitzsimmons himself an hour, declaring he was in splendid condition. He refused to do any more work, and a strip of ground, a mile in length, now being cleared of snow, is in good shape. He is also working in the morning at Carson, and then he took on Woods until the latter was exhausted. Aside from a slightly flushed face, Jim showed no effects. The rain, but their feet were up from San Francisco to help out Woods, who has more than he can attend to in standing before.

RYAN AND TURNER. HOT SPRINGS (Ark.), Feb. 22.—Jim Ryan of Australia and Charley Turner of Stockton, Cal., met tonight in the contest before the Metropolitan Athletic Club tonight. In the eighth round Ryan landed a right uppercut on Turner's jaw, and the latter was the latter and knocking Turner out.

SMITH AND DALY.

A Los Angeles Man Wins a Fight at Fresno.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

FRESNO, Feb. 22.—Ed Smith of Los Angeles and Jim Daly of San Francisco, who have been fighting for some weeks fought to a finish at the race-track, two miles from town yesterday in the presence of at least 100 spectators. Smith outlasted his opponent and had him going in the ninth round. In the next day was knocked out. The winner received $100.

A FAKE FIGHT.

Dan Creedon and Nick Burley Hoofed in the Quaker City.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—Dan Creedon and Nick Burley of New York made a fake fight to "fake" a fight at the Quaker City Athletic Club tonight. O'Brien was to have met Creedon, but declined at the last moment, and Burley was put in. Burley promptly demonstrated the affair to be a fake, by leading out his right with an open glove, but when Creedon followed suit, the crowd became so angry that the referee called time. Creedon landed his right heavily in Burley's face, whereupon Burley quit.

GOTHAM'S DOG SHOW.

Matiffs, Great Danes and St. Bernards of High Degree.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The twenty-first annual dog show of the Westminster Kennel Club opened today and will continue until next Thursday at Madison Square Garden. The matiff classes are not so large as last year.

St. Bernards and Great Danes in evidence. Bloodhounds and Great Danes are well represented. In the latter class Malcolm McKinley, the prize winner for the last few years, has a dangerous rival in the person of Henry Garrett. J. L. Kernehan, H. H. Hunnewell and Oliver Ames. Esquimaux dogs that drew sleds for Peary's Arctic expedition are also present.

The judges are assisted by two English experts, L. P. Castley and George Raper.

BEEHIVE'S GLASS ARM.

It Broke in Three Places When He Threw a Ball.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—The strangest accident that ever happened on a baseball field occurred at Central Park today. Thomas Behan, an amateur ball player, made an attempt to throw a ball and his arm fell to his side broken in three places.

All old baseball players know what a "glass arm" is, for all have had one, but none have ever succeeded in breaking one before.

Therefore Behan breaks his arm and all records at the same time. The doctor at the hospital says the only theory concerning the accident is that Behan's muscles are particularly strong and his bones exceedingly brittle.

Australian Ball Players.

MELBOURNE, Feb. 22.—A Melbourne baseball team has decided to make a tour of the United States, and will sail on the Monowai for San Francisco.

Pig-skin Kicking.

DECOTO (Cal.), Feb. 22.—The Re-lance football team of San Francisco was defeated by the Centerville Athletic Club of Washington township on the latter's grounds by a score of six to nothing. Whipple, a California university football man, made the touchdown and Carter kicked the goal.

RIVERS ON THE RAMPAGE.

DESTRUCTIVE FLOODS IN THE OHIO VALLEY.

Continuous Rain and Melting Snow Cause Serious Overflows—The Danger Point Nearly Reached at Cincinnati—Many Landslides.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

CINCINNATI (O.), Feb. 22.—For seventy-two hours, up to 7 o'clock tonight, a steady rain has fallen over the entire area of the immense watershed of the Ohio Valley, with the exception of the mountainous portions of Western New York and Western Pennsylvania, where the telegraph reports rain tonight. Here tonight it is drizzling from a black sky that threatens heavy rainfall before morning, in which case conditions for a great flood will be present. On both sides of the Ohio, the Big Sandy, the boundary between West Virginia and Kentucky, the tributaries are at high flood tide. The mountains at the head of the Kentucky, Tennessee and Tennessee rivers are delivering into these great tributaries with great rapidity, floods of melted snow and rain and filling the lower Ohio. All the tributaries on the left bank of the Ohio in Pennsylvania rise in the mountains, and there, too, the delivery of rainfall and melted snow is very rapid. Should the rain cease before morning, the danger point at this point will probably stop within the fifty-five-foot mark, which would cause no great inconvenience. Should a heavy rainfall occur over a considerable area in the Ohio Valley, there is no predicting what stage the water would reach at Cincinnati.

CONTINUED DOWNPOUR.

CINCINNATI (O.), Feb. 22.—Rain has been falling almost constantly since Friday night, accompanied at times with thunder and lightning. The result will be a considerable rise in the Ohio River. The Big Sandy River is booming; three inches of rain have fallen in the past forty-eight hours and thousands of logs are being carried down the river. It is estimated that the water will rise at least five feet within the next twenty-four hours.

NEARING THE DANGER POINT.

CINCINNATI (O.), Feb. 22.—Considerable damage is being done by the rapid rise of the Ohio River. The stage of forty-five feet indicates the danger point here. The river reached forty-five feet shortly after noon, rising at the rate of seven inches an hour. River men expect a stage of fifty-five feet by midnight, calling for fifty armed men to move out. Reports from all tributaries tell of floods.

REPORTS FROM KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.), Feb. 22.—The Times has the following advice today from the flooded districts in the State: SPARTA (Ky.)—Charles Holton, the eleven-year-old son of W. Holton of this city, was drowned in the floods following the terrible rain of the night of the 20th. A great many logs are washed into the Ohio River. The streams up the Kanawha River are also rising rapidly, bringing down great quantities of timber and railroad ties.

CAUSE OF THE REVOLT.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), Feb. 22.—But little information is obtainable as to the cause of the Indian revolt on the reservation of the Mason Valley Plutes, except that the story is current that last week two white boys and a Plute buck had a fight over a squaw. The Indian was worsted in the encounter, and was injured to an extent that the death of the Indian was the grievance that incited the Plutes to threaten the valley for the revolt.

The first news came in the form of the following message early this morning from Wabushka: "The Indians have threatened to burn all the property and kill the white men and women within the reach of this valley. Send us fifty extra stands of arms, also fifty extra stands of ammunition, as soon as possible. By order of special committee."

Upon receipt of the above Adj.-Gen. Galusha at once sent the following message to Col. Lord, commanding the First Regiment at Virginia City: "Hold one company of your command in readiness for active service at a moment's notice. Reported hostilities on the Indian outbreak at Mason Valley. I will go to Wabushka on the morning's train. Also have fifty muskets ready for shipment."

News from Virginia City tonight says: Col. Lord, upon receipt of the above message, immediately ordered the men detailed from different companies were soon in uniform and ready for the revolt.

Late this afternoon the following message was received from Adj.-Gen. Galusha, dated Wabushka: "Can learn nothing definite here, only that it was quiet at Yerington this morning. Don't think there can be any trouble. Will leave for Yerington in a few

ONE WOMAN'S NOTIONS.

[From Good Housekeeping.] The men will stand anything. It's a woman's notion to be married.

A woman is as good as a man any day.

Dearest friends make the best enemies.

Marriage is sometimes the grave of love.

It's a bad workman quarrels with his tools.

Sinners never hear any harm of themselves.

An old girl makes a young married woman.

There is something better than beauty, and that is charm.

There are no husbands enough to go around—statistics prove it.

A lie should be large and adaptable, each charging the other with stealing stock. In a fight a Papago was killed.

The chief of the tribe, who went to El Plomo for redress, was thrust into a Mexican prison. Thirty armed Papagos demanded his release, being refused, they stormed the jail, and in attempting his liberation, the chief was shot by Mexicans, and four other Papagos were killed. One Mexican was wounded. This happened a week ago.

The Papagos retreated to the mountains seven miles this side of the line, and fortified themselves, awaiting an attack by Mexicans. Two days ago there were over 300 well-armed Papago warriors, encamped and across are rushing to that point from all the settlements of the Papagos.

A SHEET OF FIRE.

SAN DIEGO BAY ABLAZE WITH LIGHTS AND FIREWORKS.

The Carnival Lost Nothing of Beauty or Splendor Because of Postponement.

LAND PARADE WAS BRILLIANT.

BRITISH BLUE JACKETS NOT ALLOWED TO LAND.

But the Commas Made Up for This Disappointment by Her Magnificent Display of Fireworks at Night.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) After many days of storm and gloom, Washington's birthday was ushered in this morning by the most glorious sunrise imaginable, even to Southern California. All day yesterday the weather was in doubt. The wind was almost a gale, and scudding clouds threatened a storm every hour. The weather was cold and raw to a degree most unusual in the land of sunshine, and things looked blue for the carnival. Today the old proverb, "A bad beginning has a good ending," was proved true. From the first royal salute fired from the warships to the last burst of fireworks that lit the night into flame, nothing has occurred to mar the success of this elaborate celebration of Washington's birthday.

In the early morning hours men worked like beavers on sea and land, and ships and houses were all a-flutter with bright bunting, before noon. Every ship had all its flags and pennants flung to the breeze, and the blaze of color rippled from stem to stern, mirrored in the still waters of the bay. Rowboats and launches darted about like water-bugs, laden with visitors to the cruisers, and the blue-jackets returned the compliment by pervading the streets with the delight of Jack the British sailors did not march. The American blue jackets turned out in force, however, and left nothing to be desired in the way of a naval pageant.

The parade was headed by Chief of Police J. W. Brennen and a platoon of mounted police. Grand Marshal Lieut. Col. A. G. Gassen followed with his chief of staff, Capt. Charles C. de Rudlo, U. S. A.; Lieut. E. F. Brown, Maj. G. M. Dannels, Lieutenant-Commander L. H. Turner, Capt. G. H. Bower and Ensign A. Morgan. The first division was led by Lieutenant-Commander R. H. Ingersoll, chief of brigade, supported by Brigade Adjutant Lieut. A. S. McLemore, U. S. M. C., and the brigade staff. A company of pioneers marched next, looking trim and jaunty in their sailor uniforms, and then came the Philadelphia band, a bright spot of scarlet and gold amid the dark blue lines of seamen and marines. Co. H, First Infantry, U. S. A., headed the first battalion, which was commanded by Capt. M. P. Maus, U. S. A., Ensign C. P. Fullinwider, U. S. N., acting as adjutant.

Co. H was under the command of Lieut. T. Connelly. Then came the second company of marines from the Philadelphia and Marion, commanded by Capt. Randolph Mackin and First Lieut. F. J. Moses. Eight companies followed in regular order after the marines, commanded by Lieuts. J. B. Bligh, G. W. Brown, R. E. Conitz, Ensign G. N. Hayward and Naval Cadets J. C. Wetters, C. M. Tozer, A. McArthur and T. A. Kearney. The second battalion was preceded by two superb flags of silk, the nation's colors, and the admiral's flag, and was commanded by Lieut. A. T. Fechter, with Ensign C. C. Fowell as adjutant. The bugler of Co. H, and the Philadelphia drum corps made merry music for this division.

More seamen followed, three companies from the Monterey, commanded by Lieuts. H. Kimmel and H. A. Field; three from the Monardock, commanded by Lieuts. A. G. Rogers and H. M. Beecher; two from the Marion, commanded by Lieut. F. W. Kellogg, and two from the Commodore, commanded by Lieut. R. D. B. Seventh Regiment, N. G. C., came next, under the command of Capt. R. V. Dodge and Lieut. J. C. Melike.

The third division of the naval battalion, N. G. C., commanded by Lieuts. L. M. Shaw and L. A. Chandler, followed, and the division was brought to a close by the brigade hospital corps, with its crimson-cloaked stretchers, and the Mayor, officers of the army and navy, Executive Committee and invited guests formed a sort of interlude.

ing and counter-marching in perfect order, and bringing roars of applause by the beauty of their gaudy drill. The men from the other ships joined in also, drilling excellently, and then the procession formed again and marched to the wharf, after giving the spectators an hour of genuine enjoyment.

THE WATER CARNIVAL.

Gorgeous Spectacle on the Bay of San Diego.

San Diego Bay was a sheet of colored fire tonight during the grand water pageant which formed the chief event of the midwinter carnival. Every warship glittered with many colored incandescent lights, twinkling like stars through the softer glow of thousands of Japanese lanterns. Every launch, barge, yacht and fishing boat on the bay was outlined with Japanese lanterns. Arc lights marked the wharves, laden with the tremendous crowds now flocking to the utmost accommodations of San Diego. The water was a sheet of light reflecting back the myriad points of flame.

At sunrise this morning the war vessels began decorating with flags, Chinese lanterns and placing the electric light wires and globes in position. The fireworks lighters were carried on the wharves, and the framework for the set pieces erected. The general orders were very strict, and barring a few unavoidable accidents, were carried out well. At the firing of the signal gun at 7:40 p.m., all the lanterns were lighted and all the electric lights twinkled out as by one impulse.

Myriads of tiny crafts appeared in the darkness, mere slender threads of light against the black water as they darted about or rocked lazily at anchor. The warships lay motionless, each a mass of glory. The Philadelphia had a line of red, white and blue incandescent lights, passing over the tops of the masts from bowsprit to stern. In the center of this line of light was a great anchor of incandescent lights, flanked by stars of the same. The entire hull was outlined with Japanese lanterns. In the distance were seen the Marion, masts, shrouds and hull all strung with Japanese lanterns, a fairy ship outlined in light against the sky, which was lighted up every few minutes with the showers of rockets sent from her deck. The Albatross also lay near the Commodore, her hull so covered with lanterns that she looked like a sheet of fire. The revenue cutter Corwin fairly spouted roman candles, which hissed and glittered spitefully through the long strings of Japanese lanterns hung from yards and shrouds. The Monterey was all a glitter of incandescent lights as to her rigging and a glow of Japanese lanterns as to her hull, deck and bridge. The Monardock carried out the same decorations in a slightly different design, and H. M. S. Comus, as though anxious to atone for her failure to appear in the land parade, fairly out-did the whole fleet in the splendor of her decorations. In addition to her gorgeous display of lanterns and incandescent lights she sent out almost continuous showers of rockets and red fire, not only from the decks but from the yard arms, where sailors were perched in mid-air to manage the fireworks. The barge containing the chorus of 100 voices was attached to the staunch little tug Santa Fe, which slowly circled around the bay passing close to each cruiser in turn that it might receive a special greeting in patriotic songs.

At 8 o'clock the signal gun was fired for the entrance of the goddess and her court upon the state barge. This was 2800 feet in length, with a central dome 30 feet high, under which was the throne of the goddess. Palms and banners formed the principal decorations of the barge, as the dynamo which was to have supplied the incandescent lights with which the barge was to be decorated, unfortunately broke down, leaving the goddess and her court in darkness, except when the searchlights from the cruisers were centered upon the gorgeous craft. The tug Santa Fe towed the state barge up to the side of the Commodore, where it was intended to throw power from her dynamo, but the voltage was so strong that this was impossible. Then the dazzling rays of the searchlights shone on the barge, it looked like a fairy pavilion floating through dreamland.

The Games

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

That the Harbor Board is desirous of making an early decision seems to be indicated by the fact that an attempt at bottom boring was made off Santa Monica on Sunday.

That deadly "orange fungus" discovered by a San Francisco paper is not worrying the fruit-growers very much. Commissioner Scott says the fungus has been here for ten years and has done very little harm.

The fame of the Santa Ana Valley for variety of products and fine climate is bringing many letters from anxious inquirers in the East, who are desirous of bettering their financial and physical condition.

Tomorrow entries will close for the gold-miner citrus exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce. Orange-growers who have fine fruit are urged to come forward, as the display will be of great advantage to the competing sections—especially the newer and less-known sections—for whose benefit it is especially designed.

Pomona orange-growers are inclined to think that the climate of California is changing because their fruit is maturing earlier year by year, and buds are coming earlier each season. Possibly the age of trees is a factor in the problem that may have been overlooked. Another explanation may be that the fruit does not mature earlier, but is shipped before it is ripe.

A little child was run over and terribly mangled by a Santa Fe train in Pasadena yesterday. The accident occurred at a street crossing where many school children cross the tracks daily. The place is a dangerous one, as the trains approach around a curve and are not visible until within a very short distance of the crossing. In the present instance it is asserted that the engineer gave no warning, either by bell or by whistle, of the approach of his train.

Since the late rainstorm a stream of water has been running down Orange street and Alvarado street to the junction of the latter thoroughfare with Seventh street, at the southeast corner of Westlake Park. It comes from two ponds on either side of Sixth street beyond Union avenue, where a very heavy fill was made by the graders a few months ago. These ponds are covered with a large amount of crude petroleum that has come down from the hills. Unless some precautions are taken, the oil will follow the water, as it subsides, and then there will be a nice state of affairs at the park.

RAILROAD RECORD.

MUST PAY FULL FARE.

THE BURLINGTON REFUSES TO CATER TO FUGITIVES.

Will not Reduce the Rate to Carson, Fla., of Transient Port Rates to the Inauguration—Rio Grande Snow Blockade Lifted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The Burlington will not make any reduction in the rate to Carson, Nev., on account of the prize fight. This stand was taken today after a conference between the officials. P. S. Eustis, general passenger agent, said the decision was arrived at because the officials of the Burlington concluded that a prize fight was not an event which would justify them in making a reduction of rates.

INAUGURATION RATES.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Authority was granted by the chairman of the Transmissouri Association, to the roads of that organization, to acknowledge a rate of one fare for the round trip for the inauguration at Washington. The authority was granted at the request of the Union Pacific, which desired to meet the action of the St. Louis and San Francisco, which is not a member of the association.

A. AND P. AGREEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The Senate today agreed to the report of the conferees on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Reorganization Bill. This is the second conference report on the bill. The bill, as amended by this report, is practically the same that passed the House. It omits the portion of the first agreement which authorizes the issuance of additional stock.

FARE, BOARD AND LODGING.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 22.—The Missouri Pacific Railroad made somewhat of an innovation today by officially announcing its rates to the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, and incorporating board and lodging. The figures given are: Fare, $12.50; lodging, $15; board, $15.50; total, $43.

SNOW BLOCKADE LIFTED.

DENVER, Feb. 22.—The Denver and Rio Grande main line to the West, which was blocked for a day or two last week by the heavy snowfall, causing snow slides in the mountains, was reopened today and through trains are again running on schedule. This is the first time since 1884 that the Denver and Rio Grande main line has been closed by snow blockades for more than a few hours.

BANQUET AT SAN DIEGO.

Another Feast for the Loyal Legion.

The northern contingent of the Loyal Legion, who came down to attend the annual social meeting of the commandery, left Sunday for San Diego. They were accompanied by a number of the local comrades.

In an unofficial capacity they participated in the carnival and were shown over the city by the members of the local association. The great event of the visit of the fraternal brethren will take place at the Hotel Brewster in San Diego to-night, when they will sit down to a royal feast. Those of the Los Angeles comrades who did not go to San Diego Sunday, among them George H. Stewart, left yesterday to be present at the banquet.

TO SHUT ITS DOORS.

UNLESS AIDED, THE GOOD SAMARITAN RESTAURANT WILL CLOSE.

Capt. Frazier Finds the Load Too Heavy to Carry and Cannot Feed the Hundreds of Starving Men Who Apply to Him for Food.

Unless the people of this city devise ways and means to support Capt. Frazier in his efforts to succor the unemployed men of Los Angeles, the restaurant of the Good Samaritan Mission will be closed today and hundreds of men, without work or funds, will be turned adrift to make shift as best they can. Such was Capt. Frazier's decision yesterday.

In the last five days, since the heavy rain and consequent cold weather began, more than two thousand free meals have been given away at the Good Samaritan Mission. The capacity of the establishment has been severely tested and its funds have been more than exhausted. The demands that have been placed upon Capt. Frazier's charity have far exceeded those of any equal period in the past. In order to assist the greater number of needy, the quality of the food has been reduced and the plainest fare, which could be cooked in large quantities, has been served. The dormitories have furnished beds for an average of 350 men nightly, of whom fully one-third were not able to pay 5 cents for a night's lodging.

Capt. Frazier, in speaking of the situation yesterday afternoon, said: "I cannot carry it on any longer and will be obliged to shut the restaurant at the Good Samaritan Mission tomorrow. If the people of the city will furnish me the supplies to feed the hungry and unemployed, I will see that it is cooked and served, and every scrap will be used to the best advantage. There are plenty of men who will do the necessary work for the sake of getting something to eat. The lodging part of the mission will be kept up, but I am forced to close the restaurant. So long as the 5-cent meals are sold, it is impossible to turn away worthy men who are starving and have no money. The demands of the utterly destitute have been more than could be met. Those who have some means, however slight, can buy meals elsewhere, but what will become of the men who are penniless and out of employment? I cannot say. If they are turned out on the streets, the city will have to care for them in some way. It will be some time before the warm weather will be here, and conditions will improve."

"It has always been my purpose to use my best judgment to put out the worthy men and reject cases which I thought were not worthy of assistance. Except in bad weather, it has been the rule at the mission to allow no loafing in the daytime, when there was a chance for the men to get work. That would be the regulation, and it would be strictly enforced, if any further help is to be extended to these men. If the people of the city will furnish me with the food—I do not care for money—I will cook and distribute it. The equipment is all ready, if help comes in the form of food. The kitchen and cooking utensils and the restaurant are ready for use, but the supplies must come."

"My idea would be to feed the men only two meals a day, one about 10 o'clock in the morning and one at 6 o'clock in the evening. The plainest diet, merely enough to keep the men from starving, is all that is needed. Pork and beans and bread and coffee would be sufficient."

"No one need imagine that I am making an appeal for myself. Who ever gives anything is helping the men, who stand sorely in need of assistance. It is a mistake to think that they will not work if they have a chance. An application was made at the mission yesterday for ten men to pick oranges and not less than 100 men were ready to go to work, although the wages amounted to only about 25 cents a day, out of which the pickers must board themselves."

"I know the condition of the unemployed in the city as well as anybody—have been dealing with them for months—and if they are driven out into the streets to starve, there is no telling what will become of them, and in all probability the jail will be crowded with men, who will violate the laws only when driven to it by necessity."

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

Convention Adopts a Constitution and Elects Officers.

A convention was held yesterday to organize a league for Southern California auxiliary to the American Anti-Saloon League. Delegates were present from organizations covering Southern California and from county, city and town organizations of most of the counties. The galleries were filled with spectators, a number of whom were also on the floor of the hall in the Temperance Temple, where the convention was held.

The chairman of the convention was the Rev. Clark Crawford, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Pasadena; the secretary was President Edwards of the Chicago Polytechnic Institute, Pasadena.

The principal addresses were made by the chairman and by Warren F. Day, D.D., pastor of the First Congregational Church, Los Angeles.

During the course of the convention five-minute addresses were made by R. W. Fox, president of the league; J. H. Braly of Los Angeles, Samuel H. Hadley of New York, Judge McComas and Rev. Henry H. Rice of Pomona and Theodore D. Kanouse of Glendale.

The convention adopted a constitution which declares: "The object of this league is the suppression of the saloons. To this end we invite the alliance of all who favor this object, and the league pledges itself to avoid affiliation with any organization with any political party, and to maintain an attitude of neutrality on all questions of public policy not directly connected with the traffic in strong drink."

The office of the league is to be in the city of Los Angeles.

Officers of the league were elected as follows: President, Hon. F. M. Green, Pasadena; superintendent, Theodore D. Kanouse, Glendale; secretary, Rev. F. J. Culver, Pasadena; treasurer, Willard D. Ball, Los Angeles. The vice-presidents are the presidents of each county league in Southern California.

Among the delegates present from Los Angeles were: Rev. E. W. Caswell, W. J. Chester, D.D.; J. K. Fowell, D.D.; Rev. J. H. Garnett, H. G. Billings, J. H. Braly, Dr. D. W. Edwards, Rev. J. B. Green, Rev. A. M. Hough, W. J. Hall, Rev. W. A. Knight, J. M. C. Marble, Rev. George W. White, Rev. John A. B. Wilson, D.D. and W. A. Colwell. From Monrovia: Rev. F. D. Mather. From Pasadena: Rev. Dr. Conger, Charles H. Parker, Prof. M. M. Parker, Rev. H. W. Leath, James Campbell, A. K. Nash and Dr. H. A. Reid. From Ontario: Rev. Dr. W. A. Wright, and from Whittier: Rev. Thomas Armstrong, B. ROENTGEN RAYS.

YOKUM'S LECTURE ON PROGRESS OF ELECTRICAL DISCOVERY.

More Than Half a Century Ago the First Principles of the Crookes Tubes Were Applied by Abria of Bordeaux—Recent Experiments Revealed Their Use.

Dr. F. E. Yokum delivered an interesting lecture last night before a large audience in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association on the discovery of the X rays. The lecture was illustrated by a number of scientific experiments, showing the application ance of the world, could modify its social conditions and create wealth in barren regions? And when Pasteur took up the question of fermentation, patiently observed those microscopic beings and studied their development—said to be spontaneously generated in cases of maladies affecting wines and silkworms—who could have anticipated that the day would come when this wonderful chain of research would be of interest to the whole world of humanity, and that it would be proved that the infinitely small beings are one of the most formidable enemies to human life? Yet this is the conclusion drawn from these researches. Pasteur has in fact taught us during his long and studious life that it is possible to classify these microscopic beings, to fight them and even direct them, for, according as they are our allies or enemies, they can confer certain immunity or death.

"The public only sees final success; it ample of these unexpected fruits, the outcome of the accumulated efforts of several generations of natural philosophers, whose starting point was modest enough, but whose final results have assumed exceptional importance. I refer to the discovery of the X ray by Prof. Roentgen.

"The discovery of Prof. Roentgen is unique in that it interests alike the scientific and non-scientific intelligent minds of all countries. To the world of science new problems are to the solution of matter and the innermost secrets of electricity are suggested, while to the race at large is opened up a new means of diagnosis and relief of suffering and disease in the field of surgery and medicine. No wonder, then, that the interest in the subject is universal.

"To find the first germ of the X ray, I must go back to the middle of the last century. At that period electrical phenomena excited strong interest. The bold comparison of laboratory experiments with the grand manifestations in the clouds, the explanation of thunder and lightnings, the invention of the lightning conductor by Franklin, had fired the imagination and opened a taste for electrical experiments. Physicists had become a fashionable amusement. People of quality did not disdain to attend the lectures of Abria Nollet and to follow the demonstrations which he reproduced before their eyes. It was machines producing the brush discharges—grand people, elegant gentlemen and fashionable ladies crowding around strange-looking machinery to catch a glimpse of the "electrical egg." Such was the simple and charming experiment which led to these famous X rays. But the way was long one. For nearly a century nothing new was added to our knowledge of this brilliant phenomenon.

"It was not until 1843 that Abria of Bordeaux, while making researches in induction, tried to pass the induced discharge across the "electrical egg" he found that at a certain exhaustion the beautiful violet glow diffused all over the interior of the globe, became stratified. After Abria, the stratified discharge, excited with more powerful apparatus, was studied in England and Germany by many investigators, among them was William Crookes. In his hands the shape of the bulb became elongated and furnished with two electrodes. Guided by theoretical views as to the state of matter in rarefied gases, he investigated the behavior of electric discharge on continuing the rarefaction of gases in the tube to an extreme degree. He then observed a series of new phenomena. Instead of the dark and stratified discharges, he saw them displaced by a beautiful fluorescence which you will see in these tubes to-night.

"These brilliant experiments which Prof. Crookes carried on thirty-seven years ago made a great sensation. They were repeated at many scientific meetings. But glory is short lived in this world; fashions change, reputations fade. The Crookes tube soon fell into oblivion and was laid the shop window by the side of its older sister "the electric egg." The poor neglected thing remained almost out of sight for twenty-five years, and one fine day it was drawn out of its hiding place by Hertz, guided by different opinions to the matter. Then, Lenard took up the matter and pushed it a little further. He made a tube of silver with a window of glass in it and found that the rays would penetrate black paper and acted on photographic plates.

"All these properties which were studied so closely by Lenard are precisely those which Prof. Roentgen made so famous a few months later. It is only fair to state this in order not to allow those laborious efforts which are the usual precursors of great discoveries to be hidden from view. Unfortunately Lenard's rays apparatus was complex and delicate to handle and it only gave a small beam of the curious rays.

"It was Prof. Roentgen's time exactly. A Crookes tube, enclosed in a cardboard box, was excited to action in a dark room and a fluorescent sheet such as I show you tonight was made by chance to glow. Prof. Roentgen noticed this and knew that the cathode rays was powerful enough to traverse the glass tube and thick cardboard and it was enough. Photography through opaque bodies was discovered.

"You know the rest. Surgery has been helped, diagnosis has been wonderfully helped and much more is to follow.

"During the last few years much attention has been given or devoted to the relation between electricity and light. The work of Hertz has proved that electrical oscillations can be propagated in air or in vacuum with a speed equal to that of light. Cathode rays, having the property either of discharging electrified bodies or of themselves assuming a sort of electrical charge which renders them sensible to the action of magnets, add a new link between light and electricity."

of the Crookes tubes in the development of the cathode rays and explaining the discovery of the art of photography through opaque bodies. Dr. Yokum said in part:

"The interesting study of Nature's great phenomena is often rewarded by important results in directions totally different to those anticipated by the public, and sometimes by the investigators and students themselves. When Volta, Ampere and Faraday generated electricity and studied its effect on a small scale, what rare genius could have imagined that their discoveries could have changed the whole appear-is generally ignorant of the oft-mysterious starting point of these researches and it does not realize the labors and the perseverance that have been required to arrive at what is popularly called a practical discovery. The world is inclined to decry the self-sacrifice and life of almost perfect isolation of the student and patient investigator in his private laboratories day after day and year after year, which is the source of all discoveries. There are some discoveries of a purely scientific nature that appeal only to a limited class, while others broadly affect the life and happiness of the human race and thus become of universal importance.

"The past year affords a striking ex-

MADE A SPLENDID SHOWING.

Semi-Annual Inspection of the Fire Department.

The first semi-annual inspection and drill of the new year of the Los Angeles fire department took place yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Thousands of people assembled at the Plaza, and their eyes opened with astonishment when they saw the great display of apparatus.

Very few people had any idea of the actual size of the department until they viewed the turn-out yesterday. Every engine, hose cart, chemical and truck in the city were in line, and the brass and nickel trimmings were polished like mirrors. The firemen were resplendent in new uniforms, and the brass and nickel trimmings were polished like mirrors.

The splendid horses carefully groomed, were on the line, and the brass and nickel trimmings were polished like mirrors.

There was an absence of flowers and other trills, and while no fire burned under the engine boilers, the fuel was ready to kindle and everything was arranged so that an alarm of fire would meet with instant response.

Mayor Snyder and the members of the Fire Commission, with ex-Commissioner Vetter, were present to inspect the department. They thoroughly examined each piece of apparatus, harness and other equipment. After this inspection, which lasted half an hour, the department, headed by Chief Engineer Walter S. Moore, in charge of the first division, moved south on Main street. The second division, in charge of Assistant Chief Ed Smith, and Ira J. Francis, commanded the third division.

The procession moved through the principal business thoroughfares of the city, in order to give the merchants an opportunity of witnessing the size and strength of the department. At the Temple Block Chief Moore reviewed the turn-out and the apparatus was returned to the quarters.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock an exhibition drill was given in every fire house in the city. At the new engine house on Hill street the "one-man-hitch" was performed. Driver George Conley of engine company No. 8 and J. Johnson, driver of the hose wagon for that company, were the contestants.

When the engine struck, the horses sprang from their stalls and stood under the harness. The drivers then snapped the harness together and jumped to their feet and stood under the harness. The drivers then snapped the harness together and jumped to their feet and stood under the harness.

Assistant Chief Smith held the watch and Conley's time was 12½. Johnson performed his task in 14½, which is considered remarkably good time.

DETECTIVE AND SPOOK.

An Officer Warned of Death by a Ghost.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 22.—Inspector William H. Williams of the city detective department, is a gentleman above reproach and his word has never been doubted. Last evening he handed a note to Chief of Detectives Desmond which astonished that veteran. The note stated that Saturday night while he (Williams) was asleep in his room on the third floor of the Four Courts, he was visited by a ghost who awakened him and stated that he had but a short time to live. The spook advised him to prepare for death. The visitor vanished through a closed door. Williams spent yesterday in arranging his worldly affairs. He has made his will, arranged for pall-bearers and written farewell letters. Corroboration of Williams' story is the testimony of John Stevens, janitor of the building, who says he encountered the ghostly visitor as it passed through the hall. There is no questioning the belief of the inspector in the reality of the visitor and the warning, and there is no disposition among his associates to ridicule him.

Imperial Defenders.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Globe this afternoon urges the government to accede to Canada's request to establish permanently in the Dominion a depot for the Old Royal Canadian Regiment, and says: "Apart from remedying the injustice rendered when all connection between the regiment and its birthplace was severed, the proposal to relieve sensibly the resources of the motherland will be an important step toward realizing imperial defense."

HIGH DEGREE MASONS.

NOTABLE GATHERING AT THE MASONIC TEMPLE LAST EVENING.

The Hall of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons Red-Tested, was appropriately decorated for the banquet and toast.

There was a notable gathering of high-degree Masons last night at the new Masonic Temple to participate in the dedication of the new hall of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons, Scottish Rite Masonry, embraces four divisions, viz.: Lodge of Perfection, Chapter Rose Croix, Council Knights of Kadosh, and Consistory S.P.R.S., including degrees from the fourteenth to the thirty-second. The membership of Scottish Rite Masons in this city is quite large, and they have fitted up what is decidedly the finest and most novel hall in the temple for their use, with nothing lacking to make the work of the several degrees perfect. The interior walls and ceiling of the hall are painted to represent large blocks of stone, and every other appointment is in perfect keeping. The dedication ceremonies last night were witnessed by a large concourse of Scottish Rite Masons from all parts of the State, and were conducted by the following brethren: Thomas H. Caswell, thirty-third degree, Grand Commander, Supreme Council Southern Jurisdiction of the United States; W. Frank Pierce, thirty-third degree, Inspector-General for California; Charles Crocker, thirty-third degree, Grand Master of Kadosh, Grand Consistory of California; Fred S. Langdon, thirty-third degree, Master of Kadosh, Occidental Consistory; Charles L. Patton, thirty-third degree, Past Grand Master of Kadosh, Grand Consistory of California; Primate; Arthur Brookman, thirty-second degree, Senior Warden; Charles J. Willett, thirty-second degree, Junior Warden; Frank F. Davis, thirty-second degree, K.C.C.H., Orator; Henry S. Orme, thirty-second degree, K.C.C.H., Almoner; John L. Pavlovich, thirty-second degree, K.C.C.H., Secretary; Simon Conrad, thirty-second degree, K.C.C.H., Treasurer; Phil S. Thompson, thirty-second degree, Master of Ceremonies; Isaac A. McMillan, thirty-second degree, Captain of the Guard; Theophilus Masac, thirty-second degree, Musical Director.

At the conclusion of the dedicatory services the assembly repaired to the banquet hall, where an elaborate repast was served to about 150, the tables being placed in the form of a hollow square. Elected Directors.

At the annual meeting of the California Society Sons of the Revolution, held yesterday, the following gentlemen were elected directors for the ensuing year: Arthur B. Remond, Jr., Col. Collins, Edward T. Harden, Bradner W. Lee and Stencor R. Thorpe. Reports of officers showed the society to be in prosperous condition, and plans were formulated at the meeting which promise well for its future.

Killed by His Sheep.

JEFFERSONVILLE (Ind.), Feb. 22.—Michael Gleason, aged 85, was killed yesterday afternoon by a flock of sheep from one lot to another and was letting down the bars of a fence when a ram dashed at him and butted him to the ground. While lying prostrate the other sheep followed and trampled him to death.

Both Men Arrested.

Philip Healey was arrested by Detectives Auble and Hawley yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault with intent to commit robbery. The warrant was sworn to by one Powers, a henchman, and the arrested party is one Auble Fox, the story of whose hold-up has already been published in The Times. Harry Leonard has already been charged on the same charge, and the two men who brutally assaulted the robbery victim are likely to find themselves in an unpleasant predicament. A hold-up in such a public place has not occurred for a long time.
